Up to 20 by hand. About 2 with a voice note.

THE PROBLEM

After every screening call, someone turns notes and a CV into a write-up in the client's format, then writes the email. Up to 20 minutes each, and strong candidates reach the client late.

WHAT CHANGES

- Talk for 30 seconds instead of typing
- The submission is drafted in your format
- A one-page candidate profile is attached
- Personal details are left out and flagged

BUSINESS VALUE

ILLUSTRATIVE ROI

10 a week ≈ 3 hours back per recruiter

For a team of five, that's 15 hours a week, about $39K a year, without adding headcount.

18 min saved per submission at $50/hr. Not a client result.

GUARDRAILS

- Nothing sends without your approval
- Only what the CV or you said
- Personal details never reach the client
